The International Institute for Strategic Studies (IISS) is the world’s leading authority on political-military conflict. It is the primary independent source of accurate, objective information on international strategic issues for politicians and diplomats, foreign affairs analysts, international business, economists, the military, defence commentators, journalists, academics and the informed public.

The Military Balance is The International Institute for Strategic Studies’ annual assessment of the military capabilities and defense economics of 171 countries worldwide. Offering region-by-region analysis and comprehensive data on weapons and defence economics it is an essential resource for those involved in security policy making, analysis and research.

New features of The Military Balance 2013 include:

- new sections on trends in contemporary armed conflicts in Afghanistan and Syria
- trends in defence capability areas, with a focus on equipment, technological or doctrinal developments
- updated graphics feature on comparative defence statistics, with focus on defence economics, and major land, sea and air capability concerns
- new essays on trends in defence economics and procurement, European defence industries, and another on Anti-Access/Area Denial

The Strategic Survey is the annual review of world affairs from The International Institute for Strategic Studies, a globally renowned research centre for strategic issues. It is an invaluable tool for interpreting world-wide strategic developments and has, since 1966, provided the essential one-volume analysis of the year’s key events in international relations for government policy makers, journalists, business leaders and academics.

Users of Strategic Survey 2013 will benefit from:

- an assessment of recent major events and trends on the strategic landscape over the past year
- regional chapters analyzing development in individual countries
- chronology of the preceding twelve months’ events
- about thirty pages of maps detailing strategically important activity and global, regional and local political change.

‘Strategic Survey has become a landmark of the think tank landscape.’
– Bronwen Maddox, Editor of Prospect Magazine

‘Policy-makers, academics, students and interested members of the public will be better informed by reading this authoritative annual.’
