Preface

Part I: Theoretical Perspectives and Research Methods in Sociological Social Psychology

Chapter 1: What is Sociological Social Psychology?

What is Social Psychology?
Sociological Social Psychology and Sociology
   The Sociological Perspective
      Social Norms
      Social Stratification
   The Individual in Society: Constraint and Agency
Micro vs. Macro- Levels of Analysis
The Different Faces of Social Psychology
   Psychological Social Psychology (PSP)
      Research on the Bystander Effect
      What to Do in an Emergency
   Symbolic Interactionism (SI)
      Research on Teenagers Working in Coffee Shops
   Social Structure and Personality (SSP)
      Research on the Consequences of Teenage Employment
Group processes and structures (GPS)
   Research on Gender Bias
   Experiments in GPS vs. Experiments in PSP
Comparing the Social Psychologies
   Locating the Social Psychologies on the Micro-Macro Continuum
Application: Studying the Social Experiences of Immigration
   Studies by Symbolic Interactionists
   Studies by SSP Researchers
   Studies by GPS Researchers
   Applying Multiple Perspectives
Chapter Summary
Key Points to Know
Terms and Concepts for Review
Questions for Review and Reflection
Chapter 2: Research Methods in Sociological Social Psychology

The Research Process
Quantitative Research Methods
  The Deductive Method and Testing Theories
    Independent and Dependent Variables
    Indices
Surveys
  Representative Sampling and Generalizability
  Biased Sampling
  Secondary Data Analysis
Experiments
  Experimental Design
  Zimbardo’s Stanford Prison Experiment
  Experiments in Sociology
    The Effects of Status: Education
Evaluating Quantitative Research Methods
  The Strengths and Weaknesses of Surveys and Experiments
    Establishing Causality and Internal Validity
      Time Order
      Spurious Relationships
    Generalizability and External Validity
    Reliability
Qualitative Research Methods
  The Inductive Method and Grounded Theory
Participant Observation
  Covert Participant Observation
  Overt Participant Observation
In-depth Interviews
Evaluating Qualitative Research Methods
  The Strengths and Weaknesses of Qualitative Methods
Using Multiple Methods
  The Research Cycle
Ethical Issues in Research
  Institutional Review Boards and Codes of Ethics
  Experiments, Surveys, and Observational Research
Chapter Summary
Key Points to Know
Chapter 3: Symbolic Interactionism and Related Perspectives

Theoretical Frameworks
Symbolic Interactionism (SI)
  Communication as an Exchange of Significant Symbols
  Mead’s Self
Key Premises of Symbolic Interactionism
  The Social Construction of Reality in Everyday Situations
The Two Schools of Symbolic Interactionism
  Chicago School Symbolic Interactionism
    Situational Definitions
      The College Classroom
      Fan-Celebrity Encounters
    What’s Distinctive about Chicago School SI
      The Construction of Meaning in Group Encounters
  Iowa and Indiana School Symbolic Interactionism
    What’s Distinctive about Iowa/Indiana School SI
      Measuring the Self-Concept
      Family Roles and the Content of College Students’ Self-Concepts
      Society, the Self-Concept, and Behavior
Comparing Iowa/Indiana School to Chicago School SI
Related Theoretical Frameworks
  The Dramaturgical Perspective
    Grades and Impression Management among College Students
    Other Research on Self-Presentational Strategies
Ethnomethodology
  Talk about Race and the Reproduction of Inequality
Agency vs. Structure within the SI Face of Social Psychology
Evaluating SI Research
  Strengths of SI Research
  Limitations of SI Research
Chapter Summary
Key Points to Know
Terms and Concepts for Review
Questions for Review and Reflection

Chapter 4: The Social Structure and Personality Perspective
SSP Analysis of the College Classroom
SSP as a Face of Sociological Social Psychology
  Early Research
  Social Stratification and its Consequences
SSP and Theory
  Role Theory
    Statuses and Roles
    Social Institutions
    Role Strain
The Three Principles that Guide Research in SSP
  The Components Principle
  The Proximity Principle
  The Psychology Principle
Structure vs. Agency within SSP
The General SSP Model
Prominent Research in SSP by Context
  Work
    Gender, Race, and Occupational Mobility
    Alienation
    Job Satisfaction
  School
    The Wisconsin Model of Status Attainment
    Tracking
  Family
    Gender and the Division of Household Labor
Life Course Research
Evaluating SSP Research
  Strengths of SSP Research
  Limitations of SSP Research
Integrating Perspectives: Research on Social Cognition
Chapter Summary
Key Points to Know
Terms and Concepts for Review
Questions for Review and Reflection

Chapter 5: Group processes and structures

Groups in Everyday Life
  Groups vs. Social Networks
Research in Group processes and structures (GPS)
Experimental Sociology
Three Theoretical Frameworks Within GPS
  Expectations States Theory
  Status Characteristics Theory
    Multiple Status Characteristics
    Intervention
  Social Exchange Theory
    Power-Dependence Relations
      Types of Power-Dependence Relations
      Power in Exchange Networks
    Studying Negotiated Exchange in the Lab
    How to Increase Power in a Negotiated Exchange
    Studying Reciprocal Exchange in the Lab
  Trust
    Research on Social Exchange in Intimate Relationships
Social Identity Theory
  Why People Form Social Identities that Devalue Out-groups
    Application: "A Class Divided"
  Minimal Groups
  Contemporary Research on Social Identities
    The Construction of National Identities
    Political Identities and Behavior
Evaluation of GPS Research
  Strengths of GPS Research
  Limitations of GPS Research
Chapter Summary
Key Points to Know
Terms and Concepts for Review
Questions for Review and Reflection

Part II: Topics Studied by Sociological Social Psychologists

Chapter 6: Socialization Throughout the Life Course

Key Concepts
Primary Socialization
  Psychological Approaches to Child Development
    Personality
    Cognitive Development
Chapter 7:  Self and Identity

Self, Self-Concept, and Identity
Self-Perception and Affect
   The Looking-Glass Self
Self-Esteem
   Sources of Self Esteem
   Structural Influences
Self as a Cognitive Structure
  How Self-Schemata Function
The Self-Concept and Behavior
  Self-Esteem and Behavior
The Dramaturgical Model and Impression Management
  Psychological and Situational Factors Related to Impression Management
Structural Symbolic Interactionist Approaches
  Identities and Behavior
  The Role-Person Merger
  The Verification of Self-Conceptions
  The Self-Fulfilling Prophecy
GPS Research on Intergroup Relations and Social Identities
  Identity Threat
Identity Construction and Maintenance
  Symbolic Interactionist Approaches
    Application: Studying the Transition to College
Identity Change
The Real Self
  Evidence of a Cultural Shift
SSP Research on Generational Changes in the Self-Concepts of Youth
Self and Identity in the Postmodern Era
Chapter Summary
Key Points to Know
Terms and Concepts for Review
Questions for Review and Reflection

Chapter 8: Emotions and Social Life

Important Terms
Categories of Emotion
  Primary Emotions
  Secondary Emotions
    Labeling Based on Situational Cues
    Cultural Factors
    Emotion Management
    Model of Emotive Experience
Emotion as Social Control from a Symbolic Interactionist Perspective
  Reflexive Role-Taking and the Self-Regulation of Behavior
  Embarrassment and Shame
    Behavioral Indicators of Embarrassment and Shame
  Guilt
Embarrassability and other Dispositional Differences
Empathic Role-Taking and Sympathy
Rules for Giving and Receiving Sympathy
Identities and Emotion
Identity Control Theory
Affect Control Theory
Emotion as a Product of Group processes and structures
Social Exchange and Emotion
Distributive Justice and Equity
Status and Emotion in Task-Oriented Groups
Socioemotive Behavior and the Reproduction of Status Structures
Using Emotion to Combat the Self-Fulfilling Nature of Group Interactions
Emotion within the Social Structure and Personality Tradition
Interaction Rituals
Power, Status, and Emotion
Responses to 9/11
Chapter Summary
Key Things to Know
Terms and Concepts for Review
Questions for Review and Reflection

Chapter 9: Deviance and Social Control

What is Deviance?
Deviance as a Social Construction
Why Study Deviance?
Types of Deviance
Mechanisms of Social Control
Social Patterns
Deviance among Youth
Deviance among Adults
Research on the Causes of Deviance within Social Structure and Personality
Structural Strain Theory
Social Comparison Processes and Relative Deprivation
General Strain Theory
Social Control Theory
Main Premises
Bonds to Society
Macro Extensions
Research on How Deviance is Learned
The Symbolic Interactionist Model Revisited
Differential Association Theory
  Main Premises
Differential Reinforcement Theory
  Application: Social Learning and Stalking
Overview and Evaluation of Structural and Learning Theories
The Consequences of Being Considered Deviant
  The Symbolic Interactionist Approach
    Main Premises of Labeling Theory
    Status and Labeling
    Deviant Selves
      Managing Stigma from a Dramaturgical Perspective
      Derogation Ceremonies and the Use of Accounts
      Techniques of Neutralization
    Deviation from Norms within Groups
    Status Violation Theory
  Other Perspectives
Chapter Summary
Key Points to Know
Terms and Concepts for Review

Chapter 10: Mental Health and Illness

What Causes Stress?
  Sociological versus Psychological Approaches to the Study of Stress
Modeling the Stress Process
  Distress vs. Disorder
  Stressors
    Temporal Order
  Coping Resources
    Social Support
    Self-Esteem and Mastery
Social Structure and Psychological Distress
  The Differential Exposure Model
  The Differential Vulnerability Model
  Explaining Status Effects
  Socially-Based Identities and Psychological Distress
    Status Effects
Studying Psychiatric Disorder
  Application: Explaining Racial/Ethnic Differences PTSD among War
Veterans
Adversity throughout the Life Course
SSP Research on Mental Health and Public Policy
The Social Construction of Psychiatric Disorder
DSM and the Dominance of the Medical Model
Medicalization and its Consequences
The Labeling Theory of Mental Illness
The Societal Functions of the Concept of Mental Illness
Two Important Studies
The Mental Institution from a Dramaturgical Perspective
“On Being Sane in Insane Places”
Evaluating the Qualitative Literature on the Experiences of Mental Patients
Contemporary Patterns
The Modified Labeling Theory
Identity Illness Careers among Individuals with Depression
Structural Perspectives on Treatment
Chapter Summary

Chapter 11: Personal Relationships

Key Concepts
Social Psychological Research on Love
   Passionate Love as the Misattribution of Arousal
   Love Styles
   Macro-Level Structural and Cultural Influences on Definitions of Love
   Symbolic Interactionist Perspectives on Love
Sex on College Campuses: The Hookup Culture
   Who Hooks Up?
Friendship
   Characteristics College Students Value in their Friends
The Trajectory of Personal Relationships
   Initiation: Person Perception and Attraction
      Application: How to Make Common Perceptual Biases Work in Your Favor
   Propinquity
   Cultural and Group Norms
The Initial Stage of a Relationship
Role-Negotiation
Relationship Maintenance
Relationship Dissolution
  Factors Associated with Premarital Breakups
  The Consequences of Breaking Up
  Divorce
    Structural Determinants of Divorce
    Social Exchange Processes and Divorce
    The Consequences of Divorce
Contemporary Trends
  Same-Sex Couples
  Cohabitation among Heterosexual Couples
The Internet and Personal Relationships
  Psychological Well-Being and Social Development
  Friendship
    Who Benefits the Most from Internet Use?
  Romantic Relationships
    Internet Infidelity and its Consequences
  Mobile Phones and Personal Relationships

Chapter 12: Prejudice and Discrimination

Important Concepts
  Institutional Discrimination and Racism
Status Beliefs and Behavior
Attitudes and Behavior
  The Effect of Social Norms
  Pressures toward Similarity
  Evidence that Behaviors Predict Attitudes
The Current Racial Climate
  Racial/Ethnic Discrimination in Hiring Decisions
  Proportional Representation as an Indicator of Discrimination
Cognitive Biases and Contemporary Racial Attitudes
  Implicit and Explicit Attitudes
  Status, Conflict, and Changes in Racial Attitudes
Beliefs about Racial Inequality
Application: College Students’ Race Journals
Social Structure and Social Cognition
The White Racial Frame
Counter-Frames
How Racial Frames are Learned
Racial and Ethnic Identities
Race/Ethnicity as a Social Identity
Structural Perspectives
Tokenism
Symbolic Interactionist Research on Identity Construction
Creating a More Egalitarian Society
Micro-Level Interventions
Creating a Common Identity through Interdependent Cooperation
Challenging Status Beliefs
Macro-Level Structural Changes
Chapter Summary
Key Points to Know
Terms and Concepts for Review
Questions for Review and Reflection

Social Influence
Research on Compliance
Obedience to Authority
Research on Conformity in Groups
Gender and Conformity
Status Characteristics and Conformity
Social Contagion within Social Networks
Application: Identifying the Social Processes that Lead to the Spread of Obesity
Gossip
Social Constraint
Collective Behavior
Fashions and Fads
Institutional Fads
Rumors and Urban Legends
Mass Hysteria
Panic
Somatoform Epidemics
Behavior in Crowds
Social Contagion
Deindividuation
Emergent Norms
Social Movements
Early Theories
Value-Added Theory
Other Models within Social Structure and Personality
Resource Mobilization
Why Individuals Participate in Social Movements
Framing
The Free Rider Problem
Social Movement Participation as a Self-Fulfilling Prophecy
Socially-Based Identities and Participation in Social Movements
Social Networks, Social Support, and High Risk Activism
Collective Identity and Participation in Social Movements
New Social Movements
Coalitions
Social Movement Outcomes
