Play Therapy
The Art of the Relationship
Third Edition

Garry L. Landreth, University of North Texas, USA

“The newest edition of Play Therapy: The Art of the Relationship is rather like having the opportunity to sit and talk with Garry Landreth. His relational manner of writing is more enhanced in this edition... If you have read it before, you’ll love this new edition. If this is your first time to read it, pull up a chair, and enjoy the relationship.” - Linda E. Homeyer, Texas State University–San Marcos, USA

Play Therapy: The Art of the Relationship is the newest incarnation of Garry Landreth’s comprehensive text on creating therapeutic relationships with children through play. It details Landreth’s Child Centered Play Therapy model, which stresses the importance of understanding the child’s world and perspective. This approach facilitates the play therapy process while allowing therapist and client to fully connect. Expanded to cover additional topics of interest, the new edition includes a full chapter on current research in Play Therapy; new sections on supervising play therapists, legal and ethical issues and multicultural concerns; 30 new photographs that show the author demonstrating techniques in-session; practical tips for working with parents; instructions on play room set-up and materials; and online instructor resources.

Trauma-Informed Practices With Children and Adolescents
William Steele, The National Institute for Trauma and Loss in Children, Michigan, USA, and Cathy A. Malchiodi, in private practice, Kentucky, USA
Trauma-Informed Practices With Children and Adolescents is a sourcebook of practical approaches to working with children and adolescents that synthesizes research from leading trauma specialists and translates it into easy-to-implement techniques. The approaches laid out address the sensory and somatic experiences of trauma within structured formats that meet the “best practices” criteria for trauma informed care: safety, self-regulation, trauma integration, healthy relationships, and healthy environments. Each chapter contains short excerpts, case examples, and commentary relevant to the chapter topic from recognized leaders in the field of trauma intervention with children and adolescents.

Engaging Boys in Treatment
Creative Approaches to the Therapy Process
Edited by Craig Haen, Andrus Children’s Center, New York, USA
“Masses of innovative ideas, stacks of references for further exploration, a brilliant book.” - Play for Life
This book explores a variety of creative approaches that professionals can use to enhance the clinical experience and better reach their young male clients.

We’re No Fun Anymore
Helping Couples Cultivate Joyful Marriages Through the Power of Play
Robert Schwarz, in private practice, Pennsylvania, USA, and Elaine Braff, in private practice, New Jersey, USA
We’re No Fun Anymore reminds therapists and the couples they treat that marriage does not have to mean forfeiting the passion, playfulness and joy in a relationship. With 50 combined years of clinical experience backing it, the program outlined in this book will help to build up a relationship without first tearing it down, examining its weaknesses, or trying to fix its problems.
